BATTLE HONORS - CITATION OF UNIT (CO 13, Hq 7th Army, 21 Jan 45).

By direction of the President, under the provisions of Section IV, Circular No. 333, War Department, 1943, the following named organizations are cited for outstanding performance of duty in action:

Company F, 442d REGIMENTAL COMBAT TEAM

Company L, 442d REGIMENTAL COMBAT TEAM

For outstanding performance of duty in action on 21 October 1944, in the vicinity of Belmont, France. Assigned the mission of assaulting the flank and rear of the resistance which had stopped two frontal attacks by the Combat Team, Companies F and L, 442d Regimental Combat Team, designated the O'Connor Task Force, launched an attack down the north slope of the wooded ridge, Forest de Belmont. Company L, leading the assault, defeated a security group in a short sharp action, capturing several prisoners. Then, by the precept use of rifle grenades and mortars, the garrisoned houses just outside the woods were quickly reduced. The capture of these houses was an important factor in the success of the mission, as it gave the Task Force observation of the ground to the enemy's rear. To complete its work, the Task Force now had to interdict enemy movement, drive a wedge through the forces resisting the Combat Team, and effect a junction with the main force. Heavy casualties were inflicted by artillery fire directed by the Task Force's forward observer on the enemy positions. Then, assault groups began to clear the defenders from houses to the north of La Broque. The capture of these houses was not only divided the enemy forces, but made certain that large numbers of the enemy would be trapped between the Task Force and the advancing Combat Team. By mid-afternoon the Task Force and the Combat Team made contact, and what enemy troops were not surrounded were completely routed, thus bringing to a close a plan brilliantly conceived and expertly executed. By the next day the Combat Team had secured the high ridge which dominates Belmont. This ridge was both a protective arc around the recently won communications center of Brayer, and an entering wedge in the drive to the Meurthe River. In destroying the enemy Main Line of Resistance and advancing the Divisional front lines by approximately 2000 meters, the Task Force captured fifty-six prisoners, killed eighty of the enemy, and captured considerable quantities of enemy material and equipment. The fearless determination, daring and intrepidity displayed by the officers and enlisted men of the O'Connor Task Force exemplify the finest traditions of the Armed Forces of the United States.

AWARD, POSTHUMOUS, OF DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS. (CO 187, Hq 5th Army, 19 Dec 1944)

TED T. TANUYE, 39019913, Technical Sergeant, Infantry, United States Army. For extraordinary heroism in action on 7 July 1944, near Molino A Ventoabbate, Italy. Technical Sergeant TANUYE led his platoon in an attack to capture the crest of a strategically important hill which afforded little cover or concealment. Noticing an enemy machine gun crew placing its gun in position to his left front, Technical Sergeant TANUYE crept forward a few yards and opened fire on the position, killing or wounding three and causing two others to disperse. Immediately an enemy machine pistol opened fire on him, but he returned the fire and killed or wounded three more Germans. While advancing forward, Technical Sergeant TANUYE was subjected to grenade bursts, and his left arm was rendered useless by a fragment. Sighting an enemy trench, he raked the position with fire from his submachine gun and wounded several of the enemy. Running out of ammunition he crawled twenty yards to obtain several clips from a comrade on his left flank. Next, sighting an enemy machine pistol which had pinned down his men, Technical Sergeant TANAKA crawled forward a few yards and threw a hand grenade into the position, silencing it. He then located another machine gun firing down the slope of the hill, opened fire and silenced this position. Drawing fire from a machine pistol nest located above him, he opened fire and wounded three of its occupants. Finally taking his objective Technical Sergeant TANAKA organized a defensive position on the reverse slope of the hill before accepting first aid treatment and evacuation. His fighting determination and intrepidity in battle exemplify the finest traditions of the Armed Forces of the United States. Entered military service from Torrance, California. Next of kin: Mrs. Namuyo Tanouye (Mother), McGehee, Arkansas.

AWARD OF THE DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS (CO No 10, HQ 7th Army, 16 Jan 1945).

GEORGE S., IIDA, 30105400, Staff Sergeant, Infantry, Company G, 442d Infantry Regiment. For extraordinary heroism in action on 4 July 1944, near Castellina, Italy. When his platoon was pinned down by fierce bursts of machine gun fire, Sergeant Iida, spotting two of the guns, successfully neutralized one machine gun emplacement with his M-1 rifle and directed the fire of his BAR man in silencing another. Reorganizing his men who had become scattered by the barrage, he advanced forward alone to reconnoiter the area. Encountering an enemy rifleman, he shot him at point blank range. This action caused the enemy to open up with intense machine gun and machine pistol fire, locating one of these hostile positions, Sergeant Iida crawled to within a few yards of it and threw two hand grenades, destroyed the machine gun nest. Meanwhile, his platoon leader was seriously wounded and Sergeant Iida was ordered to assume command of the platoon. Observing that the men were still held immobile by the concentrated enemy fire, he again advanced alone, located the hostile positions and heaved four more hand grenades into the emplacements, silencing the enemy weapons. By his fearless determination and outstanding bravery, Sergeant Iida successfully led his platoon in capturing their objective. Entered military service from Schofield Barracks, Territory of Hawaii.

AWARD OF THE DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS (CO No 134, HQ 7th Army, 26 Dec 44)

MASATO NAKAE, 30102831, Private, Infantry, Company A, 100th BN, 442d Infantry Regiment. For extraordinary heroism in action on 19 August 1944, near Pisa, Italy. When his sub-machine gun was damaged by a shell fragment during a fierce attack by a superior enemy force, Private Nakae quickly picked up his wounded comrade's M-1 rifle and fired rifle grenades at the steadily advancing enemy. As the hostile force continued to close in on his position, Private Nakae threw six fragmentation grenades into their midst and forced them to withdraw. During a concentrated mortar barrage which preceded the next assault by the enemy force, Private Nakae was seriously wounded by a mortar shell fragment. Despite his injury, however, he refused to surrender his position and continued firing at the advancing enemy. By inflicting heavy casualties on the enemy force he finally succeeded in breaking up the attack and caused the enemy to withdraw. His extraordinary heroism in the face of a greatly superior force is in keeping with the highest traditions of the Army of the United States. Entered military service from Honolulu, Territory of Hawaii.
AWARD OF LEGION OF MERIT (GO No 157, Hq MTCUSA, 30 December 1944)

ISRAEL A. S. YOST, 10511005, Captain, Chaplain's Corps, 100th Battalion, 442d Infantry Regiment, for services in Italy from 15 October 1943 to 8 September 1944. Entered service from Nazareth, Pennsylvania.

AWARD, POSTHUMOUSLY, OF THE SILVER STAR (GO No 17, Hq 7th Army, 24, Jan 45)

PETER S. MASUOKA, 37344728, Staff Sergeant, Infantry, Headquarters Company, 2d Battalion, 442d Infantry Regiment, for gallantry in action on 3 November 1944, in the vicinity of Biffontaine, France. When his company was subjected to an intense artillery barrage, Sergeant Masuoka volunteered to lead a squad of litter bearers in the evacuation of several casualties. Exposing himself to terrific artillery fire, he skillfully administered first aid and evacuated the wounded. While working on a wounded comrade, Sergeant Masuoka was killed by enemy shellfire. Inspired by his courageous action, which was performed at the sacrifice of his life, his litter bearers continued administering first aid to the remaining casualties, successfully treating them and evacuating all the wounded men of the company. Next of kin: Mr Harry U. Masuoka (Father), 6-4-A-4, WRA, Amache, Colorado.

AWARD OF THE SILVER STAR (GO No 17, Hq 7th Army, 24, Jan 45)

NAOHIKI MIYAMOTO, 30166254, Private First Class, Medical Department, Medical Detachment, 442d Infantry Regiment, for gallantry in action on 20 October 1944, in the vicinity of Bruyeres, France. Observing two of his comrades severely wounded and exposed to enemy fire, Private First Class Miyamoto, on his own initiative, left his covered position and dashed through a hail of enemy fire to the aid of these men. Under fire, he calmly administered first aid. When intense enemy fire was directed against his position, Private First Class Miyamoto, with complete disregard for his own safety, threw himself over one of the wounded men, shielding him with his own body. Realizing that the wounded man was in need of immediate blood transfusions, Private First Class Miyamoto, displaying outstanding bravery, carried him through intense crossfire to the aid station. Entered military service from Kawainui, Papeekoe, Territory of Hawaii.

AKIRA NAKAGAWA, 30101215, Private First Class, Infantry, 100th Battalion, 442d Infantry Regiment, for gallantry in action on 22 October 1944, near Biffontaine, France. While at his machine gun post, Private First Class Nakagawa observed an enemy officer running for cover some distance away. Although fully aware that he was under the observation of several hostile riflemen a short distance away, he jumped out of his machine gun dugout and pursued the officer. Hurrying over a barbed wire fence, he continued his pursuit of the officer, who was now desperately dashing toward an enemy-held concrete wall, and, with a flying tackle, subdued him. Covering his captive with his pistol, he brought him back to friendly lines in full view of the enemy. By Private First Class Nakagawa's daring and aggressive actions, his unit was able to obtain vital information from the enemy officer regarding enemy dispositions. Entered military service from Honolulu, Territory of Hawaii.

FRED R. YAMASHIGE, 30106044, Sergeant, Infantry, Company D, 100th Bn, 442d Infantry Regiment, for gallantry in action on 22 October 1944, near Biffontaine, France. When the rifle company which his machine gun was supporting entered the town of Biffontaine, France, Sergeant Yamashige fearlessly led his men through intense 20 millimeter gun fire to a building in the town for the purpose of protecting his company's right flank and rear. After supervising the installation of the machine gun, Sergeant Yamashige, with complete disregard for his own safety, picked up a rifle from a fallen enemy soldier and pursued the fleeing Germans. Despite intense small arms fire, he shot one enemy soldier and wounded two others. Sergeant Yamashige's courage, initiative and leadership were instrumental in effecting the successful occupation of the town. Entered military service from Pulehu, Keauhau, Territory of Hawaii.

AWARD OF THE SILVER STAR

TAKASHI KUSUNOKI, 3010561, Private First Class, Inf, Company A, 100th Battalion, 442d Regimental Combat Team, for gallantry in action near Biffontaine, France, on 29 October 1944. In an attempt to establish contact with an entrapped battalion of the 141st Infantry Regiment, Company A was suddenly pinned down by direct fire from an enemy tank and several of the men seriously wounded. Private First Class Kusunoki, noticing the helpless condition of his wounded comrades, fearlessly left his covered position and rushed to their aid. Though the enemy continued with his deadly tank fire, Private First Class Kusunoki courageously administered first aid to the wounded and, with the help of a fellow soldier carried them to a place of comparative safety. By his courageous action, Private First Class Kusunoki was an inspiration to every member of his unit and reflects credit upon himself and the United States Army. Entered the service from Naipahu, Oahu, Territory of Hawaii.

ALVIN FLANAS, 30105762, Private, Inf, Company A, 100th Bn, 442d Regimental Combat Team, for gallantry in action near Biffontaine, France, on 29 October 1944. In an attempt to establish contact with an entrapped battalion of the 141st Infantry Regiment, Company A was suddenly pinned down by direct fire from an enemy tank and several of the men seriously wounded. Private Flanas, noticing the helpless condition of his wounded comrades, fearlessly left his covered position and rushed to their aid. Though the enemy continued with his deadly tank fire, Private Flanas courageously administered first aid to the wounded and, with the help of a fellow soldier carried them to a place of comparative safety. By his courageous action, Private Flanas was an inspiration to every member of his unit and reflects credit upon himself and the United States Army. Entered the service from Honolulu, Territory of Hawaii.

AWARD OF THE SILVER STAR

GEORGE INAMOTO (19060327), Technical Sergeant, Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action, on 7 July 1944, near Solino A Vantobbite, Italy, and on 16 and 17 July 1944, in Luciana, Italy. Technical Sergeant INAMOTO (then Staff Sergeant) led his weapons platoon in support of an attack to capture the crest of a strategically important hill which afforded little cover or concealment. Sighting a squad of the enemy attempting a flanking movement to his left, he opened fire with his submachine gun, killing four and causing the others to disperse. Next, locating a machine pistol nest, he silenced this position with a burst from his submachine gun, killing at least three of the enemy. With a final rush, a rifle platoon cleared the crest of the hill. As the enemy retreated down the forward slope, Technical Sergeant INAMOTO opened fire, killed three and wounded six of the fleeing enemy. Again at Luciana, Italy, Technical Sergeant INAMOTO led his platoon in support of an attacking company. Leading one section of his machine guns into a house which was under intense artillery, mortar and small arms fire, he emplaced one machine gun on the roof. Observing an enemy machine gun nest to the left front, he directed the squad's fire and silenced the position. Immediately a machine pistol located in a house to the right front opened fire. Technical Sergeant INAMOTO directed the fire of his machine gun and silenced this position. Observing an enemy patrol attempting a flanking movement, Technical Sergeant IWAMOTO directed machine gun fire at the patrol, killing two, wounding or dispersing the remainder to dispose of the threat. Technical Sergeant IWAMOTO's brilliant leadership and heroic actions under fire reflect the highest traditions of the Armed Forces of the United States. Entered military service from Toppenish, Washington.

AWARD OF THE SILVER STAR (CO No 137, Hq 7th Army, 27 Dec 44)

JOHNN ITO, 3903716, Private First Class, Medical Department, Medical Detachment, 442d Infantry. For gallantry in action on 17 October 1944, near Bruyeres, France. During a fierce enemy attack, the first platoon of Company G was subjected to intense sniper, machine gun and artillery fire which seriously wounded five soldiers. Private First Class Ito, an aid man attached to the first platoon, exposing himself to the terrific hostile fire, left his covered position in a draw and ran one hundred and fifty yards across open terrain to the aid of the injured men. While administering first aid to one of the soldiers, Private First Class Ito was severely wounded in the back. Despite his painful wounds, he remained with the injured men for over five hours, constantly exposing himself to the heavy enemy fire. The complete disregard for personal safety displayed by Private First Class Ito reflects great credit upon himself and contributed materially toward saving his comrades' lives. Entered military service from San Mateo, California.

AWARD OF THE SILVER STAR (CO No 138, Hq 7th Army, 27 Dec 44)

SABURU HIGA, 30104534, Private, Infantry, Headquarters Co, 2d Battalion, 442d Infantry Regiment. For gallantry in action on 3 November 1944, near Biffontaine, France. While engaged in an attack, Company F was pinned down by concentrated mortar and artillery fire which inflicted numerous casualties. Private Higa, volunteering to act as litter bearer and aid man, hesitatingly left his covered position to render first aid to the wounded soldiers. Despite artillery fire, which fell dangerously close to him, he moved fearlessly toward one of the seriously wounded men. Quickly administering first aid, Private Higa then carried him to shelter. He again returned to the area and, while dashing to the assistance of another comrade, he was seriously wounded. Disregarding his painful injury, Private Higa continued to render first aid and to evacuate the wounded until he collapsed as a result of fatigue and pain. His courageous actions are in keeping with the finest traditions of the Army of the United States. Entered military service from Wana, Oahu, Territory of Hawaii.

MINORU KUNIEDA, 30101708, Private First Class, Infantry, Company D, 100th Bn, 442d Infantry Regiment. For gallantry in action on 20 August 1944, near Rigliine di Pisa, Italy. When an enemy reconnaissance patrol infiltrated to within four yards of a machine gun position manned by Private First Class Kunieda and another soldier, their machine gun failed to function. Private First Class Kunieda, with complete disregard for his own safety and armed only with a 45 caliber pistol, forced the enemy patrol to withdraw. His courage and determination were instrumental in successfully defending an important position in his unit's sector against a superior enemy force. Entered military service from Hilo, Territory of Hawaii.
